Opening Reading

Opening Reading

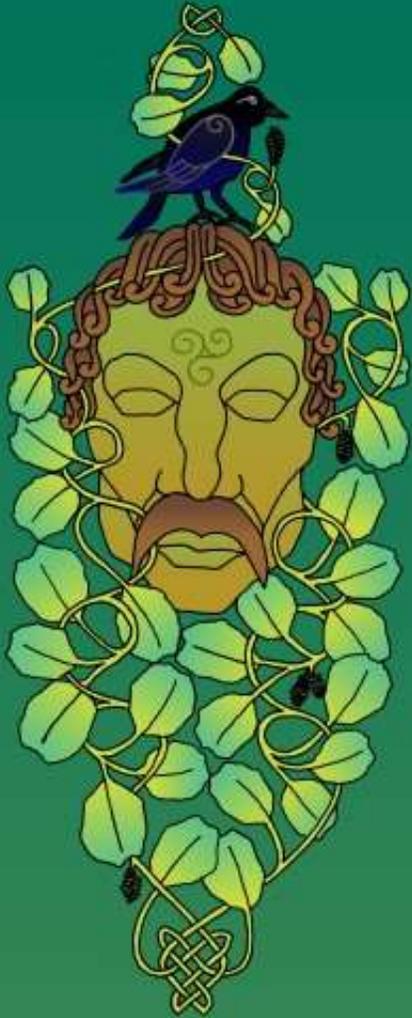

May our journey tonight
Be blessed with insight,
Guided by understanding and wisdom,
We seek to learn with respect for all.
May the God/dess
Give us strength
To act wishfully, wisely, and well.

— adapted from Abby Willowroot 2008

Tree Month - Alder

March 18 - April 14

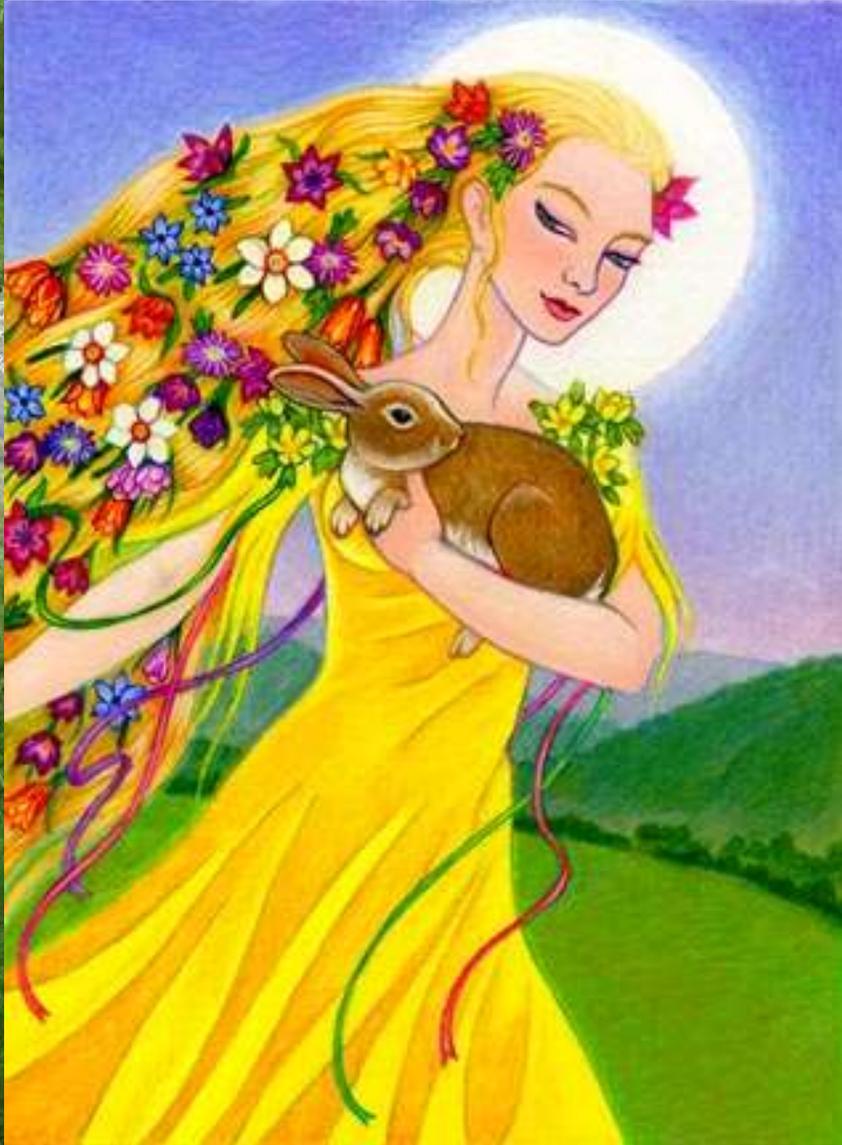

The alder tree is associated with death & resurrection, with courage & with balancing the male & female principles within a human being. Its wood is used for such elevated purposes as the making of magical flutes & whistles, the foundation of medieval cathedrals & the fabrication of cigar boxes.

Pagan Theology: Blessings

A Unitarian Universalist minister I know recently said that one of the purposes of religious practice is to empower us so that we may go out and bless the world [1]. That idea of empowerment as a vehicle through which we both are blessed and bless the world intrigues me. How do we Pagans bless ourselves, so that we may be powerful enough to bless the world?

As Pagans we talk a lot about blessings. Blessed be. House blessings. Blessing the working or tools. We even use "blessings" as an address when closing out letters or e-mails. But what, exactly, is happening when we bless? Who is doing the blessing, and what happens? In the Christian beatitudes there is a whole list of people and traits that are blessed, like the poor in spirit. When we bless what do we place in the recipient of the blessing, and what do we retain for ourselves?

One way to understand blessings is that they are given and received, thus establishing a relationship between the giver and the recipient. Blessings create a social contact between those involved. They are an exchange of magical

Blessings

◇ Purpose

- Calm the mind
- Open the spirit
- Open us to the positive forces of the Universe
- Allow us to look beyond present events preoccupying us

Cleanse this space, remove the past. I've found my happiness at long last. Fill this space with joy and love; send your blessings from above.

◇ Speak, motion, or visualize

- To remove negative energy around a person, animal, place, or thing
- Instill & empower them with positive energy

Blessed Be

- ◇ All existence is blessed
- ◇ We must treat the "other" as a subject, not object
- ◇ Expect recipient to exist in a state of blessedness
 - Reminds recipient they are not alone
 - Others wish them happiness & fulfillment
 - Will work with them to achieve their goals
- ◇ Invoke the sacred in what is already sacred

In Gratitude

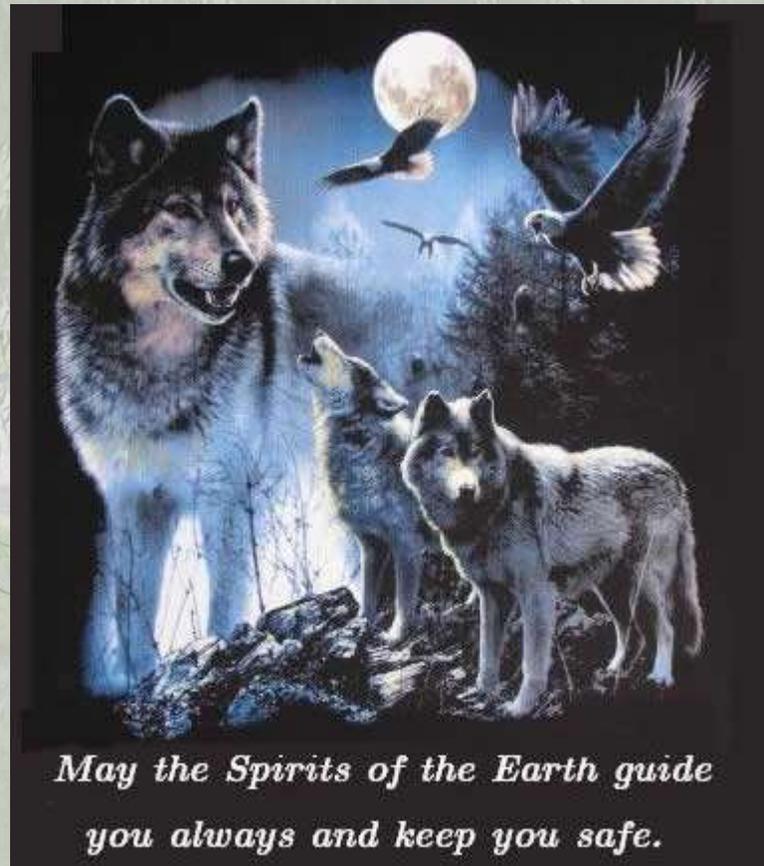

Blessed Be!

Heidi

Rite of Release

◇ Motion Invoke fire pentagram with horned sign

◇ Speak "Small friend,
In the name of the Gracious Lady
I bid you: Forget your broken shell
For it serves you no more.
In Her name,
Goddess of all that is wild & free,
I bid you: To go beyond...
To rest, to enjoy the Summerland.
Blessed be, small friend, & farewell."

◇ Visualize A glowing portal

- Flowing with positive energy
- Opened to a forest, meadow, or beach, etc.

Your Next Step

Create a Pagan grace using what you have learned

Invitation to the Gods —

*I set a place at my table for the gods, & ask them to join me here tonight.
My home is always open to you,
& my heart is open as well.*

A Simple Thanks —

*Lord and Lady, watch over us, & bless us as we eat.
Bless this food, this bounty of earth, we thank you, so mote it be.*

Offering —

*This meal is the work of many hands, and I offer you a share.
Holy ones, accept my gift,
and upon my hearth, leave your blessings.*

Prayer to the Earth —

*Corn & grain, meat & milk, upon my table before me.
Gifts of life, bringing sustenance & strength,
I am grateful for all I have.*

Grace of Eileen

Food on the table before me.

Sustenance on the table before me.

Lord and Lady, we reap your bounty and blessings on this table.

We give thanks to the fire, air, water and earth that sustains and nourishes us all.

Grace of Layla

Lord and Lady
We give thanks for this meal
And for the plants, animals and people...
Who gave their lives and labor that we might enjoy it.
May it nourish us in body, mind and spirit.
Blessed be.

– Dianne Sylvan

Grace of Heidi

I summon Air to our feast, for your spirits carried the seed
I summon Fire to our feast, whose warmth and light gave life to the seed
I summon Water to our feast, for without your gift no seed could mature
I summon Earth to our feast, you are the womb, life and grave in which the seed exists...

I summon Spirit to our feast, to fill each soul with the endless bounty of this harvest and to bless us as we go forth into the new cycle

Blessed be this circle

Blessed be the Goddess and her spirits

Blessed be our harvest

I release Air and ask you to bless us again at Imbolc

I release Fire and ask you to bless us again at Beltane

I release Water and ask you to bless us again at Ostara

I release Earth and ask you to bless us again at Lughnasadh

I release Spirit and ask that you continue to bless us until our next great harvest

So mote it be

A woman with long dark hair, wearing a pink strapless dress and a black lace choker, is looking upwards. She is surrounded by a vibrant, ethereal blue light that appears to be swirling and glowing around her. The background is a dark, starry space with a dense field of blue light particles and wisps of energy.

Closing

Bless me with good means
Bless me with good intent
Bless me with good estate
Finer than I know to ask
